Information regarding your post-operative cataract review

Please find enclosed information regarding your post-operative cataract review. It is important that checks are carried out to ensure there are no complications following your surgery.

If your surgery was straightforward, your post-operative examination can be carried out by an optometrist in the community. This will provide you with a convenient appointment at a time convenient for you.

The provider of this community service is Health Harmonie.

What happens next?

Within 10 days of your surgery, a member of the healthcare team will call you to book your post-operative cataract review. If you do not receive a call within 10 days, please contact us on 01623 622515, extension 6844 or 01636 681681, extension 5737.

Check-up

Your post-operative check-up will take place within four weeks of your surgery. The health of your eyes will be examined carefully, and your sight will be tested to see if new glasses are required.

Post-operative symptoms

Mild pain, watering, irritation, or redness can be expected within the first few days. If you have:

- Severe pain
- Persistent redness associated with blurred vision
- A sudden increase in floaters
- Flashing lights in your vision.

Please contact the hospital eye department of the hospital where your surgery was undertaken:

- King's Mill Hospital: 01623 672383, extension 3317 between 9:00 and 16:00 Monday – Thursday and between 9:00 – 13:00 Friday.

If you are unable to contact the hospital where your surgery was undertaken, please contact NHS 111.

Even if you attend the hospital department before your appointment, you should continue to attend the post-operative appointment in the community service and inform the optometrist at your appointment that you have attended the hospital. Your post-operative results will be sent to the hospital, so they are aware of the outcome of the surgery.

Finally

If you need new glasses, you won't be able to order them until your eye has completely healed - usually after six weeks. You can choose which opticians you attend to have this assessment and get your glasses from.
